Coyne Research is a multi-award-winning market research agency established in January 2012. Since then, Coyne Research has developed a strong reputation for high quality research and a diverse and respectable client list.

We are currently looking to add to our small but passionate team of researchers with a Senior Research Executive, or at a more senior level depending on experience.

The successful candidate will have the opportunity to develop and advance their career by working with clients across a wide variety of different sectors, including Financial Services, FMCGs, Telecoms and Public Sector, for domestic and international clients. The candidate will likely spend their time equally across quantitative and qualitative methodologies.

We are looking for someone who is passionate about market research, outgoing and creative, with keen attention to detail.

Ideal Requirements:

- Ideally candidates will have at least 2-3 years' experience in research/insights (agency or client side) or marketing.
- Experience or knowledge of the typical market research needs of enterprise and public sector organisations.
- Experience or aptitude for client services (including presentation skills).
- Keen attention to detail – constantly striving for high quality outputs.
- Ambition to succeed and develop a career in market research.
- Driven to generate success for the business in a highly competitive sector.
- Aptitude for both quantitative and qualitative research.

Coyne Research provide ample opportunities for researchers to grow their career in a dedicated but informal environment where we work together as a team with the constant goal of providing meaningful and actionable insights for our clients.
